

F. L. DUNLAP

NAMED EXPERT IN WILEY CASE

To Consider Questions
Rising From Pure
Food Law.

Secretary Wilson Unable to Personally Watch
Law's Workings.

New Appointee Comes From University of Michigan.

Frederick L. Dunlap, instructor in chemistry at the University of Michigan, has been appointed by Secretary Wilson, acting under orders from President Roosevelt, to fill a newly created position of associate chemist in the Bureau of Chemistry, Department of Agriculture, at a salary of $3,500 a year. His sole duty will be in co-operating with Dr. Wiley in the consideration of questions arising from the enforcement of the recently enacted pure food law.

The position of associate chemist was created by a recent conference with Secretary Wilson, in which the latter stated that he was unable to supervise personally the workings and enforcements of the pure food law, and advised the appointment of some prominent chemist, who would devote his entire time to scientific experiments relating to the law in question.

Asked College Presidents. Acting on this advice, the President wrote to the presidents of the various universities and colleges in this country, asking information as to the most capable man for the place.

Prof. Dunlap, who was finally chosen, graduated from the University of Michigan with the degree of B. S. in 1892 and from Harvard with the degree of Sc. D. in 1922. He was instructor in chemistry in the Worcester Polytechnic Institute from 1922 to 1929, and from 1929 until the present time has been connected with the faculty of the University of Michigan. His resignation from the last named position was accepted by the executive board of the university last week, and Prof. Dunlap is expected to arrive in Washington within the next few days.

Prof. Dunlap will be the associate head of the Board of Food and Drug Inspection, created by order of the Secretary today, and which Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the Bureau of Chemistry, is chairman.

Order Creating Board. The order creating the board follows: There is hereby created in the Department of Agriculture a Board of Food and Drug Inspection. The members of the board will be Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief, Bureau of Chemistry, chairman; Dr. Frederick L. Dunlap, associate chemist, Bureau of Chemistry, and George P. McCabe, solicitor of the Department of Agriculture. The board will consider all questions arising in the enforcement of the food and drug act of June 30, 1906, upon which the decision of the board of the Secretary of Agriculture is necessary, and will report to the Secretary for his consideration and decision. All correspondence involving interpretation of the law, and questions arising under the law, not heretofore passed upon by the Secretary of Agriculture, shall be considered by the board. The board is directed to hold frequent meetings at stated times, in order that findings may be reported promptly.

In addition to the above duties the Board of Food and Drug Inspection shall conduct all hearings, hearings, and legal violations of the food and drug act of June 30, 1906, as provided by regulation 5 of the regulations for the enforcement of the food and drug act, approved October 17, 1906.

Secretary Wilson will go to Chicago during the first week in May, where he will devote two days to the examination of the meat label enactment in that city.

CUBAN ARMY POST

STORY IS DENIED

The report from Havana that American troops will be regularly stationed at different points in Cuba to conduct the military supervision of that island after the evacuation of the army of occupation, is not substantiated at the War Department. While in the absence of Secretary Tamm, the report today, which was said to be quoted on the subject, it was said by those in authority that, so far as is known here, there is no foundation for the report.

It was suggested that the report is possibly based on the plan of the War Department to fortify the two naval bases in Cuba.

Inveterate Tea Drinker Fears Paralysis

Steady use of either tea or coffee often produces alarming symptoms as the poison (caffeine) contained in these beverages acts with more potency in some persons than in others.

"I was never a coffee drinker," writes an ill woman, "but tea drinker. I was very nervous, had frequent spells of sick headache and heart trouble, and was subject at times to severe attacks of bilious colic.

CLOSING COMMENT
IN HERMANN CASE

United States District Attorney D. W. Baker in Criminal Court, No. 1, began the closing argument for the Government in the case of former Representative Binger Hermann of Oregon, indicted for the destruction of thirty-five letter press copy books, official records of the Land Office, at 11:20 o'clock this morning.

In his argument District Attorney Baker did not spare the defendant. He painted him in vivid colors. He drew a picture between general reputation and character. In a suggestive way he described Hermann as a Jekyll and Hyde. "If you want to acquit the defendant," said the District Attorney, "you must believe that it was not Binger Hermann, Commissioner of the Land Office, who did these things brought out in the evidence, but 'B. Hermann,' the other fellow."

Re referred to the defendant as using his office to secure a higher price, the Senator said, during the trial of Eugene Proctor, charged with attempted criminal assault.

Dr. Simpson, who was the first to reach the woman immediately after the attack, said that he had seen her wringing her hands and crying for help. When asked whether her excited condition could not be caused by an overdose of opium he replied that he did not think that she had taken any drug on that particular day.

Robert Proctor, brother of the man on trial, stated that Eugene was dressed in overalls and a jumper on the day the assault occurred, and not in a black coat, Margaret Proctor, the aunt of the defendant, also testified that she had seen him in his working clothes about 12:15 on the day of the attack.

NEW SUIT FILED
BY MRS. MARTIN

Another chapter was added today to the Martin Brothers' failure by the filing, in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, of a bill in equity by Mrs. M. D. E. J. Martin against Thomas B. Martin, Jr., Lee R. Martin, Mark F. Finley, John A. Weinberger, and Charles G. Allen. The Martin Brothers are sued as individuals, and Messrs. Finley, Weinberger, and Allen as trustees.

Mrs. Martin alleges in her bill that she holds a note, made by James A. Weinberger, for $3,000, and that it was in the possession of Martin Brothers until the receivers took possession, and that the latter now hold it.

Upon the filing of the bill, Chief Justice of the District Court, Mr. Charles E. Smith, ordered the defendants to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

MARVIN SUSPECT FRED
BY DELAWARE POLICE

statement which the detectives say contradicts in several particulars assertions of Butler's fellow-laborers on the Marvin farm, notably those of Horace Caldwell, in regard to a bag which he says Butler carried away from the place with a load of wheat screenings just before the boy was missed.

Concerning this bag there is much mystery, and from hints thrown out by Lora, he believes it contains the solution of the kidnapping case.

According to Butler, soon after little Rose Standish, the missing child's cousin, left him at play on the straw stack, on the evening morning, and ran to the house, Butler drove his team from the corn crib, where he and Caldwell and Woodall and Harry Virid had been at work, back to the barn near the straw stack.

The boy was on the straw stack, Butler said, and that when Caldwell came to the barn a few minutes later he was still on the stack.

Bag Filled With Cork? Caldwell, in his statements to the detectives, has said that the child was not on the stack when he arrived at the barn. He furthermore declares that when the bags of wheat screenings were loaded on Butler's wagon from the barn, Butler placed another bag which he said was full of cork. Caldwell says that he remembers remarking to himself at the time that the bag seemed extraordinarily heavy for cork.

Butler insists that when they drove away from the farm with the wheat screenings, the man from whom Lora is equally emphatic in declaring that he has no recollection of seeing him there at that time. Butler admits in his statement this morning that he was alone with the child about ten minutes before Caldwell came from the corn crib.

Butler's Friends Angry. Lora told Butler that it is not the belief that he deliberately murdered the child, but that he might have accidentally run over him, and taken the body away to avoid possible punishment for his carelessness. The prisoner denied this explanation, and declared that he had no idea what became of the boy.

Sentiment is about equally divided in the present theory as to whether the boy ever, that it is a good thoroughly run out. Friends of the prisoner at Kitts Hammock and other prisoners' friends say that he would not permit the man to be accused unless there is strong evidence against him.

"This is one of the simplest cases I have ever tackled," said the detective today. "People will be surprised when it is all over."

A strange coincidence in connection with Butler's arrest was the presence as a passenger on the steamer of Charles Woodall, the man from whom Lora's friend Horace Marvin bought his farm, and by whom Butler was employed at the time of the boy's disappearance, in handling away some of his effects to his new home at Kitts Hammock.

OPPOSE ELK TEETH
FOR THE B. P. O. E.

Washington Lodge, No. 15, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at a meeting held at the Elks' clubhouse last night, went on record as favoring the proposition to abandon the use of elk teeth as emblems of the order, and will favor legislation to that end if proposed at the annual convention of the B. P. O. E. to be held in Philadelphia in July. The grand lodge is the only body which has authority to legislate on the subject.

The question originally arose from a letter written by President Roosevelt in which he said that the demand for elk teeth used as emblems of the B. P. O. E. was causing the extermination of the animals.

Early diverted to Butler at the beginning of the hunt for the kidnaper, declared him to be innocent. He remained aloof from Butler, and while the latter was being questioned in the detectives' station room after his arrest he walked restlessly about the steamer's saloon.

When asked his opinion of the arrest, all he would say was, "Butler is innocent."

NEW YORK AUTO SCORCHER
OBJECTS, BUT PAYS HIS FINE

William W. Reese, a prominent New York clubman, arrested on Connecticut avenue by Officer Lake and charged with exceeding the speed limits of the District, was fined $5 by Judge Kinnell this morning. Reese claimed as his defense that he was not familiar with the laws of the District and also that in his best judgment he was not going at the speed claimed by the officer. The fine was paid.
